'Kitayama Maruta' (Kitayama cedar) is a high-quality wood cultivated using Kyoto's traditional techniques, with a rich history of more than 600 years.

Kitayama logs are carefully crafted one by one by Kyoto's skilled artisans and are characterized by their beautiful bark and fine annual growth rings. This wood is widely used in traditional Japanese architecture, such as tea houses and temples, as well as everyday pieces of furniture.

Why not gift a Kitayama log, a piece of Kyoto's history and sincere craftsmanship, to that someone special?
